Fantastic job. This is one of the most professional productions I have ever seen on anything.

But it's a brutally sad story. It had me in tears at the end.

VICE sent this to me today. I think it captures our situation very well. You will see and hear the residents, some of whom you met.

I hope this reminder helps you,

Hello,

Our documentary about the open burning in Colfax by Clean Harbors was just published. Here's a link. Thank you for speaking to us whether on background, for research purposes, or during filming. We appreciate you trusting us with your story and helping shine a light on this overlooked situation. Feel free to share this among the community because I only had a few members' emails. And reach out to me with any thoughts or questions and I would love it if you would keep me posted on any developments on this issue in the future.

Take care!
